FOUNDER

Sir Shri Ram
(1884-1963)

“Education is the key which is going to unlock the door to our greatness....”

Lala Shri Ram, the enigmatic visionary behind the institution, was born on April 27, 1884. The first son of Madan Mohan Lal and Chando Devi, Lala Shri Ram completed his education in Delhi. In 1909, the 25 years old Lala Shri Ram joined DCM.

He possessed an analytical mind, an infinite capacity for work, and a knack for human relations. During his life, Lala Shri Ram's main emphasis was on vocational, technical and women's education. As far back in 1920, he had decided to conduct the first experiment in vocation-oriented education by founding the Commercial Education Trust. The first school taken over by Commercial Education Trust was the Commercial High School. The Commercial High School was raised in 1926 to the standard of an Intermediate College, in 1930 to a degree college and in 1934 to a post-graduate College.

In 1942, Lala Shri Ram became the Chairman of the Governing Body of the College. By the year 1948, although comparatively young among the colleges of Delhi University, the Commercial College had the maximum enrolment possible under the University rules. The College offered B.A. Pass course and the B.A. Honours course in Commerce and M.A. courses in Economics and Commerce. Until 1949, the College was located at 8, Darya Ganj, New Delhi. In 1949, it was proposed to rename the College as “Shri Ram College of Commerce”. In 1950, the proposal to shift the College to the University Enclave was accepted and implemented.
